Dear Kavita,

"It's true that entrepreneurs have to take a leap of faith at some point. While it may seem daunting, the key is to make sure you've got a parachute. - Richard Branson"

The most favourite part of an entrepreneur's story is 'the tipping point' - that awesome, tangible, remarkable point in time just before one takes the final leap into entrepreneurship. Are you hesitating to take that step forward? Although each journey is unique, the steps to every entrepreneurial leap can be remarkably similar.

Can entrepreneurship be taught? Can we create a Zuckerberg, a Gates or a Richard Branson? What is the most important quality of an entrepreneur? Is it Passion? Is it Leadership? Is it Creativity? Or ...

If you are looking to get an answer to some of these interesting questions, then this event is for you. We have put together group of panelists. They are:

Viren Lall

Entrepreneurship Instructor - Society for Effectual Action (SEA) for Entrepreneurs, housed in Batten Institute, Darden School of Business, USA.

Head of Business Transformation - BT Technology, Service & Operations

Yusuf Jazakallah

Director - Hyper-M

He will be sharing with you "The 7 steps to Entrepreneurship".

Abhishek Garodia Founder of PlayEnable, a two-sided marketplace for sports and fitness activities. Abhishek
